Mr S. Anantaraman resigned and his place was not filled up atall
15. So long as S. Anantaraman was here he was reporting the discussions in the meetings of the Legislative council; but after he resigned, for one meeting an outsider on a remuneration of 30 rupees was engaged. At ain the meeting the services of Mr V. Deva Rao, was ordered ~~to be~~ lent by the then Secretary and he was recommended for a remuneration of 20 rupees. Afterwards as the Secretary found it inconvenient to spare Mr V. Deva Rao at ~~soon~~ a few meetings it was tried to dispense with the services of a stenographer but it was found that the reporting made by taking down verbatim notes would not be complete and would consequently be very unsatisfactory. At the time of the last budget

~~[illegible]~~ the Financial Secretary was requested to lend the services of Mr. C. M. Raghavendra Rao an accountant there who was a good stenographer and he took down in short-hand the notes and discussions and speeches. As he is now employed as superintendent in the Military Stores his services as short-hand reporter for the ensuing meetings are not available. During the meetings held in November and February attempt was made to utilise the services of A Srinivasan in the Typing section and ~~of~~ Venkata Rao in the Branch VIII but the report made by them was not satisfactory.

In this connection I beg to suggest, if permitted, that a qualified stenographer ~~with~~ and a graduate — arts be appointed and attached to the Legislature

21 As proper shorthand reporters were not available at the time the Secretary permitted Mr. N. Seva Rao and Mr. B. Venkata Rao to take down the the proceedings in short-hand on the 28th June 1915. 25) The Services of a capable shorthand writer are necessary for reporting the proceedings of the Legislative Council to be held on the 27th July.

26) Government have fully recognised the necessity of appointing a qualified shorthand writer to report the proceedings of the Leg. Council and in 1910 appointed one Mr Ananthanarama Iyer temporarily for 2 years and ordered subsequently that the temporary hand may be continued for another year pending orders as to the hand being retained permanently. Mr Anantharama Iyer resigned his appointment in the meanwhile and no one has yet been appointed. The work is being done by persons who are temporarily appointed and paid for the occasion. During the last one years, Mr Venkata Rao and Mr Srinivasan were tried at 2 or 3 meetings but the work was not satisfactory, as they were apparently out of practice. Mr Deva Rao's Services were, however, spared for the last meeting and the work done was excellent.

2) It seems absolutely necessary to pay an honorarium for each meeting to the clerk who reports the proceedings, so that it may stimulate him to work at home and his brief practice unless a fee is paid, there will be no incentive for any clerk to be in touch with the work and a special outsider will have to be engaged at very high rates for every meeting. There will also be the contingency not securing any capable man at the time. Otherwise a special stenographer has to be appointed, and financially the cost will be prohibitive.

28) Under the circumstances, the best course appears to be to pay Rs 20/- a meeting to Madeva Rao, and ask him to report the proceedings. Meetings rarely exceed 5 or 6 meetings a year, and the amount proposed seems to me to be not at all much having

Rs 20 for his work on each such occasion merits favourable consideration. This is most economical and will also meet our needs. A stenographer of the 1st qualification can not be had for less than Rs 50 or 60 per mensem.
